Operative reports that P. F. O'Donnell showed him the letter which he had received from Ed Boyce, advising him to come to Butte saying that he could go back at a more favorable time and assuring him of a welcome in Butte. O'Donnell said to operative that he wished very much to go to Butte, but that Boyce had not sent any money and he did not have a cent. Operative took him to Henderson who gave him $12. He also got $5 from another party, and is going to Butte tomorrow

Burris and Sam Cassidy also want to go to Butte, but cannot get enough money to take them there. Sam Cassidy is going to Wallace tonight to try and get the money, Nov. 23rd.

Sam Cassidy thinks he is followed all the time, and is very much afraid. He says he is desperate now and will kill anyone who bothers him.

Operative reports that some of the men working at the Hunter and also J. Bamford have no use for the Hunter foreman. Oscar, the Deputy went upstairs in the Mullen House tonight, the 23rd, and on coming down, met the Bartender. The Bartender asked him what he meant by going upstairs as if the place belonged to him. They had some words over the matter, and Oscar came back afterwards and told the proprietor Forest Clark, that unless he fired the Bartender his license would be taken away.
